

Sirai House is found within the Borana Conservancy, located in the Laikipia district in the central-east Rift Valley province of Kenya, on the lower slopes of Mount Kenya. the Conservancy is just 27 kilometres north of the equator and has an average altitude of around 2 000 metres – which means that year round the weather is warm during the day and cool at night.

The Master Suite

The master suite is its own little house with bedroom, study, sitting area and dressing rooms. Relax on its private terraces and lawns and in the infinity pool looking across the tranquil expanse of the conservancy.

The Dining Room

The dining room seats twenty-two but manages to feel informal thanks to the eclectic collection of chairs and mismatched crockery.www.crocodileracers.com