

East Africa is a water sport lover's paradise. Water sports in East Africa is not limited to swimming or diving; you can enjoy a variety ranging from snorkeling to boat racing, big game fishing, sailing, windsurfing, kayaking, rafting, kite surfing and many more at the lakes and seas of East Africa.

One of the most recent developments in water sports in East Africa has been the introduction of kite surfing. East Africa is ideal for kite surfing, owing to the warm waters, abundant winds and the beauty of its coastal areas. The lakes of the country also provide many opportunities for indulging in water sports in East Africa. Boat racing on the Lake Victoria, once a traditional sport of the nearby villages, now attracts many visitors who are keen to participate.

Those who are not quite so keen on extreme water sports yet would like to enjoy the beauty of the East African coast; we would recommend a leisurely cruise on a dhow, a traditional East African boat. Take a trip to any of the smaller island a little away from the shore, and spend the day picnicking, shelling, and fishing.

Professional Divers will love the Kisite Marine Park in South Coast of Kenya, which is famous for its rich marine life. Many large luxury dhows offer daylong cruises on the sea. Explore the beautiful coral reefs of the coast, as you let the enchanting world underwater captivate you.

Crocodile Racers will help you explore the remote and unspoilt reefs, water sports amongst the fascinating and abundant marine life. Just talk to us.....
